ACHIEVE THE PERFECT FIT THROUGH CUSTOMISED SKINCARE

Like any other part of our body, skin responds to care and attention and proper treatment can go a long way in slowing the ageing process or tending to common issues.

When it comes to buying skincare products we're often compartmentalised by the few categories that are offered up for us to try and fit ourselves into, which is why more people are turning to custom made brands to look after their body's first line of defence.

Skin expert and multi-award winning pharmacist Susan Samimi has used her curative credentials to create the Neesà range of skincare products, which can be personalised to suit the individual needs of her clients who want to give their skin the healthier and younger look it deserves.

Her products and services are certainly unique to Townsville and there are very few people in Australia who have done what Susan has.

"Customisation means formulating and producing a fresh preparation from scratch; made to address your specific requirements in a way that off-the-shelf products can't," she said.

"You are unique and so is your skin, so why use a mass-produced product when you can have products designed specifically for your skin and your needs?" Susan posed the question.

Neesà customised creams and serums are cost-effective, contain generous amount of marine peptides, Vitamin C, pro Vitamin A, sodium hyaluronate Vitamin B3 and many other cosmeceutical ingredients.

Susan listed the advantages of customising to include:

- More effective product due to the freshness of preparation
- Less preservatives
- No oxidation of certain ingredients like Vitamin C
- Right combination of ingredients for effective transdermal absorption based on your skin type
- Use of ingredients that may cause allergies can be avoided.

"We have had great success helping people reduce sagging and depth of wrinkles, signs of ageing and also treating common skin problems like blemishes, hyper-pigmentation, acne, acne scarring, rosacea, psoriasis and other skin conditions," Susan explained. "However, it's not just about dabbing on a cream, it's about treating you from inside out. Stress, inflammation and disease all affect the appearance of the skin." Susan will assess the underlying cause of your skin problem and formulate the solution just for you. She works closely with dermatologists, doctors and aestheticians to effectively treat clients with difficult and diverse skin problems who have presented to her, with extremely positive results.
